

“To know
recovery, and
to know
Christ.”

We are a faith-based organization utilizing a combination of Cognitive Behavioral Therapy (CBT), 12 Step theory, and an Evangelical, Biblical, World View, which encourages patients to reconnect socially and spiritually in order to live fulfilling, socially productive lives. Bill uses the 12 Steps to help and encourage them to discover their own spiritual belief system. This allows them to be more productive at work, more deeply united with their families and connected within their communities.

Our Story:

After working in just about every recovery environment there is (TCs, long term residential, short term residential, IOP and OP), Bill decided that he wanted to work in an environment that allowed him to focus on patient care, without compromising any patient rights. His wife Betty is behind him with all the administrative help he needs.

"We keep our sobriety by giving it away!"

He discovered over the years, that the vast majority of patients that have substance use disorders have a base belief about themselves that has been compromised from the truth, and that their basic beliefs about themselves must be challenged, in order to believe in themselves enough to work on behaviors that must change. Through use of motivational interviewing, and cognitive behavioral therapy (CBT), Bill helps each patient identify what strengths they have, and target behaviors that must change. We start with psychoeducation on the model of the brain disease of addiction, and incorporate CBT through a refreshingly new look at practical applications of the 12 Steps. Bill combines his education, experience and 32 years of personal recovery to assist his patients in changing their lives.
